

Victorian Studies Network at York

10TH ANNUAL SYMPOSIUM

VSNY AT IO: VICTORIAN RESEARCH POSSIBILITIES

Friday, 20 October 2017, 10 am to 3 pm | Stong 101 (Stong Master's Dining Room)

Faculty and graduate students from all departments are invited to attend. The cross-disciplinary scope of the program—including Victorian literature, theatre, spiritualism, science, transportation, technology, and imperialist projects—is particularly inviting.

For 10 years, the Victorian Studies Network at York has been connecting researchers and enhancing connections among faculty and graduate students. Our goal is to facilitate interdepartmental and interdisciplinary work, to enrich our personal and collective experience of research in the field, and to showcase York as a centre for Victorian studies.

HEATHER FITZSIMMONS FREY (THEATRE)

“Being Fin-de-Siècle Girls: Children and University Drama Students Tread the Drawing Room Boards”

EDWARD JONES-IMHOTEP (HISTORY)

“Victorian Systems: Railways and Responsibility in the Accidental Imagination”

RACHELLE STINSON (ENGLISH)

“Nostalgic Graffiti: Writing on the University”

PAULA JOHN (THEATRE AND PERFORMANCE STUDIES)

“Mediums and Medicine Men: Object Agency in the Performance of Science and Spiritualism”

KHYATI NAGAR (HUMANITIES)

“Spectacular Visuals and Natural History in Early 19th-Century Calcutta”

WILLIAM WHITLA (HUMANITIES/ENGLISH)

“Researching William Morris and the Classics”

ALL ARE WELCOME. LUNCH AND REFRESHMENTS WILL BE SERVED.

RSVP: Prof. Lesley Higgins at ljhiggins@aol.com