

New College Proudly Presents

NETWORKING, INTERNING and HOW-TO AFTER GRADUATION

Presented by

VICTORIA BISRAM

Victoria Bisram is a recent graduate of bachelor of commerce in accounting and is currently working toward her Chartered Professional Accountants designation. Upon graduating from York University, Victoria secured a two-year developmental opportunity in the Ontario Public Service's Ontario Internship Program, which offers interns invaluable work experience in strategic planning and business relationship management, while also delivering important public services to the people of Ontario.

She is the chair of the Strategic Professionals Association, Refined Knowledge Stewards (SPARKS). In this role, she develops partnerships and offers supports to help members advance their careers through networking opportunities. She also helps to provide opportunities for members to develop the skills and knowledge they need to succeed and is committed to supporting an inclusive, accessible and healthy workplace that promotes interns and co-op students.

Victoria will be hosting this engaging and connective session where she will take a deep dive on topics such as skills in conversation, networking, the importance of storytelling, asking questions and ways to diversify your skillset.

This session will help expand your horizon by challenging yourself and your current ways of thinking and doing.
