

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL SCIENCE

FOUNDATIONS TA SEMINAR #5

Deterring and Detecting Academic Dishonesty

As TAs you will find that many students are unsure about the “ins and outs” of academic integrity; as TAs it is important that we understand the intricacies involved in this. This session will provide you with tools and tips on how to educate your students about academic integrity and help them understand issues of plagiarism, cheating, impersonation, and fabrication. To better navigate these situations, you will also be given case studies of instances of academic dishonesty and will brainstorm ways to prevent these and other breaches of academic integrity from occurring.

Facilitated by Ameera Ali, Teaching Commons Tutor

12:30-2pm, Thursday January 31 S701 Ross.

While all TAs are welcome to join us, only NEW first time Foundations TAs attending this session will be paid one hour compensation at the CUPE overload rate. You can be paid up to 7 hrs total for attending approved workshops. Please RSVP socsci@yorku.ca.