

"Budget Planning Workshop"

Presented by ACMAPS, Student Financial Services and New College

Your post-secondary education is a valuable investment, but the costs can sometimes be discouraging. With numerous responsibilities to meet and a busy academic schedule, it is important to develop financially smart habits like budgeting. Budgeting is about building a snapshot and roadmap to achieve your future goals. Achieving financial wellness does not happen in a day.

In this workshop, we will discuss financial tips that will lead you to money-managing success. You will learn how you can be proactive in identifying ways to save and prevent debt accumulation with your very own Financial Support Peers!

Come with questions and be prepared to walk away with practical tips.
