

As part of our popular Lunch Talk Series McLaughlin College proudly presents:

You are invited to an online European book launch, second in the series, of

Terrorism and Asylum

Edited by

James C. Simeon

"Terrorism and Asylum, edited by James C. Simeon, explores terrorism and asylum in all its interrelated and variable aspects, and permutations. The critical role terrorism plays as a driver in forced displacement, within the context of protracted armed conflict and extreme political violence, is analyzed. Exclusion from refugee protection for the alleged commission of terrorist activities is thoroughly interrogated. Populist politicians' blatant use of the "fear of terrorism" to further their public policy security agenda and to limit access to refugee protection is scrutinized. The principal issues and concerns regarding terrorism and asylum and how these might be addressed, in the public interest while, at the same time, protecting and advancing the human rights and dignity of everyone are offered" —The Brill Nijhoff website that features the book is as follows: <https://brill.com/view/title/54510>

MODERATOR

JAMES C. SIMEON, is Head of McLaughlin College and Associate Professor, School of Public Policy and Administration, York University.

PRESENTERS

JOHN R CAMPBELL is an Emeritus Reader in the Anthropology of Law and Africa at SOAS. He has conducted fieldwork and published widely on the anthropology of development, refugees and the anthropology of law.

NULA FREI is a senior researcher and lecturer at the Institute of European Law, University of Fribourg, Switzerland. She wrote her Ph.D. thesis on the protection of victims of human trafficking in asylum law.

CONSTANTIN HRUSCHKA works as Senior Research Fellow at the Max Planck Institute for Social Law and Social Policy in Munich since November 2017. Before that he worked as head of the protection department at the Swiss Refugee Council (2014–2017) and as a lawyer for UNHCR, the UN Refugee Agency (2004–2014).

CHRISTOPHER MCDOWELL is a Reader in the Department of International Politics at City, University of London. His research focuses on the global politics of forced migration, the resettlement and integration of displaced populations, and security.

PATRICIA TUITT is an independent legal academic (patriciatuitt.com). Her publications include the monographs, False Images: Law's Construction of the Refugee (1996) and Race, Law, Resistance (2004). She is co-editor of Critical Beings: Law, Nation and the Global Legal Subject (2004) and Crime Fiction and the Law (2016). She was recently elected to serve on Liberty's Policy Council.

Wednesday, October 7, 2020

3:00 pm, UK time; 4:00 pm, Continental Europe time; 10:00 am, Toronto time

To register CLICK HERE: <https://yorku.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJwvf-ugpi4oGNbyjSVSevReKCnv6DT-toOZ>

For further information, please contact Vicky Carnevale at vcarneva@yorku.ca